Working with vulnerable description: assistant coach role with vulnerable people: talking with individuals, to teach and develop the skills in the sport of hockey. The assistant coach will work with the head coach, a trainer, a manager to help with the team. The assistant coach implements the decisions made by the head coach for the team and with that can directly impact an individual. CMHA has through a screening process and a coaching development program coaches and other bench staff on how to work with vulnerable participants in the correct way.
